Architecture

To retrieve a book's metadata, we take input from the user and send a request to the Google Books API. The response is then presented to the user in an intuitive and user-friendly manner. The process flow diagram below illustrates this workflow.

1. Client requesting server

2. Server sending response